Way back when...

Lifetime resident recalls Romulus

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

"Romulus was our town," said 86-year-old Eva Belle Johnson Dugan Oakley who was born and raised in a log cabin near the site of the Holiday Inn and reared her own children in the old District No. 1 schoolhouse on Goddard Road in Romulus.

She was born in 1899, the third youngest of nine children born to John H. and Mary E. Johnson. Howard, Robert, Lucy, Frank, Embert, Rachel, Eva, Mary, Nora and their parents lived on the family homestead at the southeast corner of Wick and Merriman roads. Today that site would be under the freeway, Oakley estimates. John Johnson farmed "all of 200 acres" on the west side of Merriman Road.

"When I was a kid I remember my Dad used horses to plow the fields. We raised cattle and churned our own butter. Mother would bake 10 loaves of bread at a time, three times a week. There was lots of work with such a large family. At one time, mother made lunches for seven of us who were in grade school," she recalled.

The Johnson children attended the one-room Merriman School. When the community outgrew the use of that school, Johnson moved the building onto his property to use as a barn. There it remained until just a few years ago according to Oakley.

"I wore the same dress to school all week and on the weekends it was washed and ironed. Life was different back then. We walked three miles to Sunday School and rode a horse and buggy into town and to school. We played horseshoes for entertainment," noted Oakley.

"I've never had any inclination to move. All the friends I've made are here and I wouldn't be happy anywhere else."

"The house wasn't very large but the kitchen was. The table was big enough to seat the entire family. The four boys slept in the loft upstairs and the five girls slept in the one bedroom downstairs. We put straw under the rag rugs for insulation.

"The log cabin had belonged to my mother's family. She and her only sister grew up in the house. I don't know where the Proctor family came from or how long ago. They just always seemed to be here. My father's family was English who came from New York," she said.

In 1914, her father built a new two-story brick home with five bedrooms next to the log cabin.

But that year, tragedy struck the Johnson family when Mary Johnson became ill and died. The new house was complete but "she figured she'd stay in the house she was used to. She was born in that house and wanted to die there," said Oakley.

"When we first moved into the new house it was not a happy occasion. Mother had died in the old house but the funeral was in the new house," she recalled.

and become a teacher. In the fall, she began a short teaching career in the local one-room schoolhouses.

In 1920, Eva Johnson married Ray Dugan in the Methodist Parsonage. They met when he worked at the Morris General Store in town. Within the year the newlywed couple became parents of twin boys. "We didn't lose any time," joked Oakley.

Harold and Gerald were a year old when the Dugan family moved into the old schoolhouse which had just been moved to the west end of town on Goddard Road near the railroad tracks. Ray Dugan soon opened his garage and in later years would sell farm equipment and trucks.

Thirteen months later, Eva Dugan would give birth to Evelyn, their only daughter in the converted schoolhouse. "I had lots of help," said Oakley of the assistance she received from relatives and friends with three children in diapers. Bennett was their fourth child born a few years later.

As their family expanded so did their home. They added a bathroom and kitchen to the schoolhouse. In the process they found some old arithmetic papers in the attic that belonged to Ira Johnson who later became publisher of the Romulus Roman. "I've taken the paper for 75 years," interjected Oakley.

For most of their school years, three of Dugan children were in the same class. "Evelyn caught up with the boys in second grade. You know how boys are," Oakley quipped. "So when they wanted to go to Washington for their senior trip, we mortgaged the house. We wanted them to go." Suddenly, in 1944, the 42-year-old Ray Dugan died of a heart attack.

As it did 30 years earlier, life would abruptly change for Eva Dugan. She would find work with township water department and move out of the old schoolhouse. "The trains finally got to me. This house was for sale. I saw and bought it all in one afternoon," she said of her "almost new home" on Porter Road.

While with the water department, she met her future husband, Joseph Oakley and married in 1955. He was from another longtime Romulus family whose farm was at the corner of Wayne and Goddard roads. His insurance business still sits on the north-east corner. He also served as the town constable. It was just three years ago that Eva and Joseph completed an Oakley family history.

The Oakleys have 18 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

"Romulus is where I was born. I've never had any inclination to move. All the friends I've made are here and I wouldn't be happy anywhere else. That's the way it is," she said.

Stabbing suspect will stand trial

An adult trial has been ordered for the 17-year-old suspect arrested in the stabbing death of Robert O'Day at Romulus High School which occurred Jan. 31.

Last Friday, in Wayne County Juvenile Court, Judge Paul Mahenski ordered that Darryl Johnson of Inkster be tried as an adult for the first-degree, premeditated murder of Robert O'Day of Romulus.

Johnson was arraigned before Judge Duane Dunuck in the out-county court on Saturday where he entered a plea of not guilty. An examination trial date was set for 9 a.m. June 4 in the 34th District Court.

Johnson was picked up at his Inkster home six hours after the incident in which he allegedly stabbed O'Day in the chest after O'Day had apparently rushed to the aid of a fellow student who was involved in an altercation with the suspect.

What may have begun as a "senseless argument" between two students ended in tragedy, officials said.

O'Day was captain of the football team and co-captain of the wrestling team. He was awarded a football scholarship to attend New Mexico State University this fall.

The incident was witnessed by several students and one teacher.

New city phone system installed

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Beginning Monday June 2 at 5 p.m., the city of Romulus will pull the switch on a new high-tech, state-of-the-art, digital phone system.

Each department will now have its own number and callers can direct dial. The information number of 941-0666 will remain the same.

However, a new emergency number has been instituted. That number is 941-111. Formerly, the old fire department number. Calls will now be dispatched through the police department for any and all emergency situations.

The system which was installed by Rolm Company of Southfield, a subsidiary of IBM, cost the city of Romulus $175,000, according to Gerald H. Ruderman, president of Communication Resources Inc. of Farmington Hills, the consultant company who implemented the new system for the city. The high bid on the project was $210,000.

"It is our evaluation that the city can save money in the first year the system is used. Over 10 years, a savings of over $400,000 should be realized," said Ruderman.

Rita McLenon, purchasing agent for the city of Romulus said, "The city hired Communication Resources as the consultant who reviewed our present system and made specific recommendations. In the past we have leased our equipment from AT&T. Now after five years we will own it."

Employees went to a three-day training session to learn the new computerized system.

"This is a new phone concept in telecommunications. Rolm was the first to come out with a digital system in 1974. This is a major upgrade for the police department and will increase the city's ability to traffic calls. We are now in the "digital era," said Ruderman.

Voters to decide millage renewal

Schoolboard members run unopposed

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus residents will join voters across the state June 9 when citizens go to the polls to make local school election decisions.

"Incumbent trustees Edward Wilkerson and Mary King are running unopposed for the two vacancies on the Board of Education. They are running for their second four-year terms.

"The school district will also ask for a renewal of 1.5 mills that has been earmarked for maintenance," said Dr. William Bedell, superintendent of Romulus schools.

The millage is not an increase but a renewal, Bedell emphasized. "This money can only be used for improvement of facilities and purchase of instructional supplies and equipment. These funds cannot be used for wages or other general fund purposes," he stated.

A renewal of the millage would extend and limit for a period of five years, 1987 to 1991 inclusive, one and one-half ($1.50) per thousand dollars of the state equalized valuation on all taxable property in the district to provide funds for the maintenance, repair and improvement of school buildings and sites and the acquisition of equipment, instructional materials and transportation vehicles for the school district.

The millage was voted into effect by the voters three years ago but the renewal was voted down by 12 votes in March of this year.

"For the past two years these funds have been used by the board in ways that may not have been obvious to parents. We have had to replace two-thirds of the roofs in the school district because of long neglect to this type of maintenance. Most buildings are watertight now and we are beginning to make needed improvements in other areas," Bedell said.

With the millage renewal, the school district would like to remove the asbestos from the Hayti School, repave the parking lots, buy an alarm system and improve the transportation fleet.

"We would also like to buy more computers. Our school system has one of the largest computer departments for a school our size. We would like to enhance that program," he said.

At the present time, there are six elementary, one junior high and one senior high school building in the district. There are also one administration and two special service buildings. The property is valued at $50 million.

"The district needs to protect their investment and continue to upgrade and improve their assets. We are not quite at the preventative maintenance stage but this renewal should establish that," said Bedell.

The Romulus School District is fortunate, in that for every dollar spent by private citizens through property taxes, local businesses spend $2 according to Bedell.

"We are one of the few school districts who do this," he said. "This tax base is a healthy mix of commercial, industrial and private property. That potential allows the school district to spend more and tax less," he said.

"Approval of this millage renewal will protect the millions of dollars we have invested in our buildings," Bedell concluded.

This past school year, 5,319 students attended Romulus schools. That figure is down from the peak of enrollment during the late 1970s when 6,500 students were enrolled according to Bedell.

Father's Day contest slated

It's time to sing the praises of the family's "unsung hero" with a contest designed to honor the Father of the Year.

Often dads go about their daily responsibilities without the proverbial "pat on the back" or the thanks for a job well done from their sons and daughters. Poets and songwriters seldom pen a sonnet to honor dads, and seldom are books and articles written to extol the virtues of fathers.

Associated Newspapers will honor the Father of the Year from among the dads living in the circulation areas of its six newspapers with $150 worth of gift certificates to make Father's Day a very special day for the honoree.

Sons and daughters may submit a letter stating in 100 words or less why they believe their dad should be honored as the Father of the Year. Letters should be submitted before — four days before Father's Day, noon on Friday, June 6 to Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184. The prize winner will be announced in the June 11 edition of Associated Newspapers

Prizes include a $50 gift certificate from Art Allen's Men's Store, Wayne; a $50 gift certificate from Jack's Sports Shop in Wayne; and $50 worth of car washes and waxing from All-American Wash-n-Wax in Wayne.

Community wins in Romulus race

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

"Visitors get a good feeling for our people and our town. What better way to support Romulus than through the Festival Run," said Bill Smith, organizer of the successful and well-attended 10 kilometer Romulus Festival Run last Saturday.

Two hundred and forty-one runners crossed the finish line and a new course record was set. The race began almost on schedule, shortly after 9 a.m. Robert Fitch of East Lansing, a "wheeler" established a new course when he crossed the finish line 29 minutes and 28 seconds later. He is among the fastest "wheelers" in the nation according to Smith. The first "able bodied" runner was Gerald Donnakowski of Ann Arbor, who finished in 29 minutes and 44 seconds.

Smith has organized the race since it began four years ago. At that time there were no wheelchair entrants. This year there were 12, including one woman. "The Romulus Race is now about the fourth biggest wheelchair race in the state. The Free Press Marathon is the largest with about 50 entries," said Smith.

In recent years attitudes have progressed and changed. Physically handicapped people prefer the more positive distinction of "physically challenged" or p.c. To distinguish themselves from runners who are "able bodied," they are "wheelers."

Smith's attention to detail has won the recognition of wheelchair race organizers who would like to include the Romulus race on their circuit in upcoming years.

There were five water stops along the race route. The cups for wheelers had lids and straws. "You can't afford to get hands wet when you're a wheeler," noted Smith who also saw to it that the railroad tracks were covered with plywood and carpeting for easy maneuverability by the wheelers.

The DPW swept the streets and patched the holes. "Planning began several months ago. John Smagner of the police department and I rode the route several times looking for anything that would obstruct the runners. He deserves credit for making this the safe race that it was. People came up afterwards to say they didn't see a single car on the route," Smith said.

Smith has been running for about 15 years. He still runs about 30 miles a week just to stay "competitive." By the end of summer he will have run about 10 races around the city, state and country. He also runs the course of this race to get a "feel of the track."

"Whenever I'm on vacation, I try to participate in local races. I've had my most successful experiences in small towns where I can be more

"A race director needs to be conscientious about what makes well organized race," he explained. "This race has a lot of pluses. It's the kind of race I'd like to run if I wasn't organizing it. I love the sport and want to make a contribution to it. Small things make a difference," said Smith.

The wheeler winners as they crossed the finish line were: Robert Fitch of East Lansing, Jimmy Green of Saginaw, Terry Sutton of Westland, Jim Ford of Linden, George Lind of Inkster, Ardy Carter of DTW, competitive. I won my first race in Jackson, Wyoming. When I crossed the finish line I wondered, what do I do," he joked.

This race has a lot of pluses. It's the kind of race I'd like to run if I wasn't organizing it.

For the past 15 years, Smith has directed the Adult Community Education Program in Romulus. He was born and raised in Granville near Grand Rapids.

In a year, he will write several articles for Michigan Runner magazine.

He's proud of the race he has organized. "One of every three runners received an award. That's a pretty good percentage. The awards cost about $900 and were donated by Air Freight of Romulus, which was our major financial backer. Captain Nemo's did donate the trophies for the wheelers. It's hard to single out all the different companies who helped," said Smith.

An ambulance was called during the race to aid a 35- to 39-year old man who apparently was suffering from dehydration. He was treated and released at a local hospital that day. "Runners can learn something from this: take liquids. But even the best runners in the world go down," he said.

Twenty-five people from a volunteer group called Emergency Preparedness assisted with first aid problems on the route.

Dave Crowley of Rochester, Pat Ford of Linden, Jimb Boyd of Farmington Hills, Steve Himberg of Clarkston, Dave Farker of Sterling Heights and Mark Bashaw.

The top four male runners in each age class are: 12 and under: Karl Goerke of Dearborn, Joseph Felice of Romulus, Jesse Cook of Ann Arbor and Ron Kopas of Romulus. 13-18: Tim Kosikowski of Romulus, Andy Petrella of Detroit, Dennis Corder of Romulus and Patrick Gondek of Romulus. 19-24: Anthony Thomas of Romulus, John Montroy of Romulus, Harley Savage of Ann Arbor and Ian McKenzie of Royal Oak. 25-29: Gerald Donnakowski of Ann Arbor, Patrick Mickevicius of Ann Arbor, Ken Sova of Wayne and Micheal Stier of Ann Arbor. 30-34: Craig Fuller of Canton, Terry Elsey of Farmington Hills, Tim Fox of Pleasant Ridge and Ernie Del Pup of Windsor. 35-39: Paul Baldwin of Swartz Creek, Peter Hallop of Ann Arbor, Herve Corne of Windsor, Larry Strang of New Boston and Michael Everett of Novi. 40-44: Len Dupuis of Windsor, Lee Karvola of Novi, Dan Cook of Ann Arbor and Donald Jones of Ypsilanti. 45-49: Kenneth Jones of Ypsilanti, Thomas Beaty of Pittsburg, Harlan Van Blaricum of Dexter Michigan Week!

Students lead city for a day

City government officials worked overtime last Monday when students from Romulus High School participated in Government Day and assumed the role of the city council as part of the Michigan Week activities.

The young government students of Rod Hanna's class had a busy schedule. They discussed and evaluated many controversial issues of the day. Hazardous wastes, the budget, noxious weeds and the Fourth of July parade were among the issues reviewed.

Sarah Harrison was mayor. Dave Bergman was mayor pro tem. Eric Talley was clerk. Brigitte Byers was treasurer. On the council were: Todd Patterson, Kristi Morris, Steve Elliot, Michelle Plonka, James Mullins and Anita Gullant.

Several other students portrayed department heads. Jennifer Phillips was an irate citizen.

jects like a new Hyatt Hotel and denied requests for a junkyard. A lengthy discussion was conducted about a "safety incentive program" within the personnel department.

"The students on the mock council were elected and department heads appointed," said Rod Hanna, their government teacher. "This is a great way for them to learn parliamentary procedure. The mayor pro-tem, Mary Banks, has been an excellent educator in this area," he said.

Hanna has sponsored this program for 10 years. Before the mock council met, the government class observed the courts of Judges Henry Zaborowski and James Stone and later talked with them. After the council proceeding, they had lunch with Mayor Beverly McAnally provided by McDonald's.

"It's important for young people to gain an understanding to government especially their own. This makes chapters in the textbook come alive. It's more effective and more real. This is education in action," said Hanna.

Schoolhouse renovation project gets strong start ceremony.

"This will provide a focal point downtown," said Bill Crane, president of the Central Business District Association, before an audience of distinguished visitors and guests in the city council chambers one week ago Sunday to celebrate the restoration of the 147-year-old building.

Pearl Varner is president of the Romulus Historical Society. She said, "There's a lot of history in Romulus. There is a need to foster an interest in our heritage among our young people. This is a great way to learn about the community and develop community pride."

State Rep. James Kosteva said, "The fact that it was moved so often says this is the site of destiny. The stories the old schoolhouse could tell."

"We need to pass these stories on to our young people. It's part of their tradition and their heritage. This is a neat time for Romulus," said "Coach of the Year" and Romulus teacher, Al Wilkerson.

Mayor Beverly McAnally said, "America is a country of dreams and where dreams come true. We worked hard, we persevered and we achieved our goal. It was the impossible dream."

Former owner of the schoolhouse, Eva Dugan, and members of her family attended. Representatives also included members from the Romulus Historical Commission and Board of Education.

"We got a long way before the building is a museum. But we've taken the important step," said Varner.

Transportation department gives update on road projects

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

While drivers north of Detroit perform the "Lodge loiter" as a result of construction began, this past spring and expected to continue until for at least two more years, drivers in western Wayne County can be assured that the widening and reconstruction of Michigan Avenue in Dearborn is several months ahead of schedule and will complete in July.

This has been attributed to excellent cooperation from the city of Dearborn, Michigan Department of Transportation and Dan's Excavating, Inc. of Utica. Together they have allowed the work to move along at a very good pace, according to construction officials.

But Lodge Freeway completion is going well, spokesmen claim. Traffic volume has dropped since work began in early April indicating many drivers are using alternate routes.

The contractor, Midwest Bridge Co., is working seven days a week from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m. All three lanes are open for the evening rush period as required by their contract.

"From now until October, when the 1986 portion of the two-year project is scheduled for completion, we will continue to do everything possible to keep disruptions to a minimum and to continue to work on schedule," officials said.

Work is ready to begin on the southbound Lodge and officials suggest that Tiger fans take alternate routes on their way to night games. However, there should be no slowdowns related to the Lodge project on the way home from the games.

Other major projects in the metro area include "one of the shortest yet one of the biggest," I-696 through southern Oakland County.

Free bus rides available

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

"How about a free ride?" That's what Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority is asking their downriver and western Wayne County customers.

Anytime during the week of June 9 and 15, any ride on any line is free with a coupon. The coupon will be delivered direct through the mail or can be clipped out of any number of local newspapers.

"It's the first free ride coupon that I've ever heard of," said Joe Hart, vice-president of McCann-Erickson, the advertising agency who developed the campaign.

The theme of the campaign is "Give your car a day off." Ads

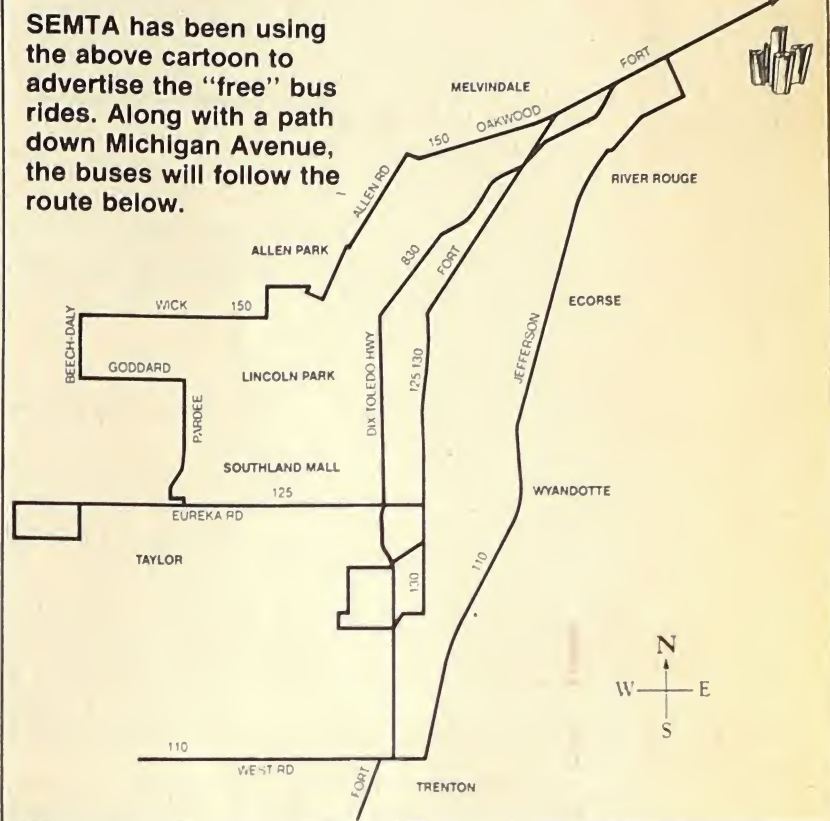

Bids will go out this month for construction of a three-level interchange at Woodward Avenue. This will involve nine separate bridges and Woodward Avenue will run 60-feet below ground at this point. Temporary roads will be built to serve traffic on Woodward and Ten Mile Road.

The Cobo Hall expansion from 300,000 to 750,000 square feet in downtown Detroit will disrupt traffic only briefly.

Construction should begin next month on the rebuilding of the I-75 Freeway interchange and West Road in the city of Woodhaven in southern Wayne County.

This month bids will be taken on a project to widen a three mile portion of Eight Mile Road from Telegraph Road east to the Southfield Freeway which will provide a full eight lane highway along that stretch.

Most local veteran posts said their collections were about average for the three day period.

Democrats to gather in legislative forum

"Come and meet the real Democrats," said Valerie Wynn, democratic spokesperson for the 15th Congressional District which will be hosting "Spend an Evening with Your Legislators."

The event will take place on Saturday, May 31 at UAW Local 157 29841 Van Born Road in Romulus from 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Tickets, available at the door, are $5 which include chili dogs, popcorn, pretzels and beer.

"The object of the party is to invite people to meet their incumbent legislators. Eighteen of them are coming," said Wynn.

Among the lawmakers scheduled to attend are: Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths, U.S. Congressman William Ford (Taylor), State Sens. William Faust (Westland), Pat McCullough (Dearborn), Lana Pollack (Ypsilanti), state Reps. Justine Barns (Westland), John Bennett (Redford Township), William Keith (Garden City), Jim Kosteva (Canton Township), Gary Owen (Ypsilanti), Lynn Owen (Maybee), Joe Palamara (Southgate), Rick Sitz (Taylor) and Richard Young (Dearborn); Wayne County Commissioners Kay Beard, Curt Boller, Milton Mack and Ed Plawewski and Washtenaw County Commissioners Dillard Craiger and Mary Egnor.

There will be no real political speeches, Wynn assured, but a short 30-minute program.

"This situation allows people to get in at the grassroots. The legislators will be introduced to the audience but any questions can be answered privately after," Wynn explained.

Music will be provided by Gordon Camp and Combo.

The party will kick off the 1986 Democratic Campaign for the district.

"It should be a fun party," said Wynn.

Pete's owner developed an allergy to him and the 5-month-old mixed spaniel pup is now looking for a new home. Pete, a black and white healthy dog weighs in at only 20 pounds now but Westland animal shelter workers estimate he'll get up to about 35 pounds when he's full grown. He eats dog food, likes children and is good with other animals. If you might be able to give Pete a home, more information regarding his adoption is available by phoning 721-7300.

Looking for a quiet pet that doesn't require much care, doesn't bark and won't scratch or meow? How about John, a 3-month old lop-eared rabbit? John's former owner is going on a three-month holiday and cannot find a home for him so he is awaiting adoption at the Westland animal shelter. John is tiny and will stay small, according to shelter workers. He is good with children but his amiability toward other animals is unknown. More information about the fawn and white bunny is available at 721-7300 during regular business hours.

dan's dogs by dan a. morris

Here are some less known facts about dogs which may prove interesting:

- Females are far more protective of their environment than are males.
- Two female dogs in one household will not out-and-out fight. Males will.
- If a household has more than one dog, male-female or female-female is the best combination.
- If a household has a male and a female, the female will dominate the two.
- Some dogs simply do not like other dogs, even if they love people.

- A puppy does know hours later whether or not he has done something wrong. You need not "catch him in the act" or catch him within 10 minutes to remind him of his error.
- Once a dog tastes blood it will not make him a killer, desparate for more blood.
- Dobermans, shepherds or other large breeds do not "turn" on their owners simply because they are dobermans or shepherds.
- You should not wait until the dog is 6 months old to begin training it.

- Spaying or neutering your dog will not turn it into a sissy or make him or her fat.
- A female dog does not need to produce a litter of puppies in order to improve her temperament.
- Arranging a "bed" is a pre-historic instinct and cannot be controlled.
- A male dog does not choose his own breed to mate with. Any available female will do. The same applies to a willing female.

- Feeding a dog gunpowder will not make it a guard dog.
- Not just dobermans or shepherds are "guard dogs". Any breed can be trained to protect.
- Sheepdogs will not go blind if their eyes are cleared of hair.
- Any more questions? Don't hesitate to write me.

Lifesaver Chief brings award to city

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

For several years Charles Wilmoth brought the annual police traffic award home to Garden City when he was chief of their department.

This is his first year with the Romulus Police Department and as chief he again brought home the traffic award. At the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, Wilmoth received the Second Place Award.

The award states: "Through your significant contributions, our highway system is one of the safest in the nation. We thank you for your participation in saving the lives of our citizens."

The first place award went to the Wayne Police Department with honorable mentions going to the Holland and Kentwood Police Departments.

Wilmoth sent a letter to his staff commending them on a "job well done."

"You are to be commended for your commitment and accomplishments during the past year in support of traffic accident reduction. Your efforts in accident investigation, selective enforcement and particularly, against the drinking driver, are truly commendable."

Romulus Police chief Charles Wilmoth displays his award.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on Wednesday, June 4, 1986, at seven o'clock (7:00) p.m. at the Belleville City Hall, 6 Main Street, Belleville, Michigan, the City Council of the City of Belleville will hold a Public Hearing on the levying in 1986 of an additional proposed millage rate of 2.439 for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The City of Belleville has the complete authority to establish that twenty (20) mills be levied in 1986 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1986 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by seventeen percent (17%).

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the city. State equalized valuation will not be finalized until after the fourth Monday in May. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the City of Belleville must hold another Public Hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the Public Hearing, the City of Belleville may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Council of the City of Belleville.

A vote for the future

The future may very well be at stake next week when voters in Wayne, Westland, a portion of Canton and some residents of Inkster are asked to approve a 2-mill increase in operating millage by the Wayne-Westland School District.

Interestingly enough, there has been no criticism of the millage request, and no organized effort to dissuade voters from approving the tax increase--and the arguments for the approval of the request seem sound and of strong merit.

But, the millage was rejected by voters when it was requested on an earlier ballot under nearly the same conditions which seems to indicate that, while opposition to the vote is individual and unorganized, it was in the majority. And, a further conclusion might be that the efforts to support and publicize the issues and need for the money were not overt enough.

If that is the case, then everyone loses, but most especially the students, and there are some, who are seeking the best education possible and putting a sincere and diligent effort toward learning. The public, and particularly the voters, must understand that these students spending today learning the multiplication tables or reading and analyzing Shakespeare are our only hope for a better tomorrow. We each need to understand that the kid playing baseball in the middle of the street could very well be the senator who casts the deciding vote on our social security check increase in not too many years. We want him educated in the very best, most efficient manner possible.

And while we're at it, let's take a look at the judge who sits on the bench in Wayne and her counterpart in Westland. Carolyn Archbold and Gail McKnight hold the futures of many in their hands daily and decide on sentences, punishments and acquittals for those charged with crimes. We're very proud of these women, and we should also be proud of the educations they worked for and earned which provide them with the wisdom, experience and ability to think necessary in performing their jobs.

“ We would urge citizens who understand the impact of this small, 2-mill increase to vote and to vote yes on the increase rather than allowing those who care less to control the education of our children, and our futures. ”

Obviously, they weren't shortchanged. Why would voters consider taking shortcuts with the children of today who hold tomorrow in their minds and hearts?

There has been no school millage increase (Continued on the next page)

A sobering thought

Members of the Romulus City Council were the first in the area to take an official stand last week regarding the sobriety check lane program designed to curb drunk driving on the state highways.

While much has been written promoting the check lanes, and while Gov. James Blanchard has some strong and vigorous arguments concerning the effectiveness of the program in keeping life-threatening drivers from behind the wheel, not much publicity has been given to the local participation and cost of the program to the taxpayers.

Romulus is a city which seems more than usually tuned into state issues and the impact that state actions might have locally, and the check lanes seem to be an example of this.

The airport within city limits is both a blessing and a curse for this city, and its administration. Mayor Beverly McAnally has some serious concerns about the effects a legalized casino gambling bill might have on her town. While other local municipalities would not really be affected, McAnally appears to have the foresight to realize what this might mean in Romulus. What would happen if people were allowed to get on a plane for an hour, arrive at their destination, gamble, and then fly back into Metro and her city to end the evening? She seems to have a point when she cites the increased crime rate in Atlantic City where gambling is legal.

Whether or not crime and vice would escalate in Romulus if gambling were available in close proximity to the airport is not the event at hand, however, and we cite that issue only to demonstrate the type of concern which seems evident in Romulus administration.

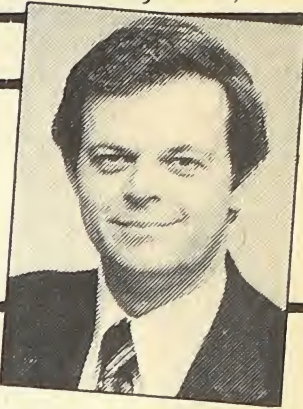

We think the check lanes are a good idea. We think they will help in curtailing drunk driving and thereby save lives. Drunks driving automobiles kill and main people. That is a proven, undeniable fact. But we also agree with some members of the Romulus council who are concerned about the constitutionality of such random checks. Are we approaching the year of "Big Brother" and what might follow if this program becomes commonplace?

There are, as we're often reminded, only two kinds of ideas: Good ideas that work and good ideas that don't. Members of the administration and council in Romulus think this is a good idea that won't work. They are worried about the future impact of the check lanes, and, they are also worried about the cost to their city in participating in such a program.

These concerns seem justified, and the Romulus councilmembers deserve a commendation for their concern for both the individual rights of citizens and their watchfulness over taxpayers' dollars.

Winners and Losers

Honor, duty, country.

General Douglas McArthur addressed the West Point cadets at the time of his retirement, and in his speech, spoke of the code by which loyal soldiers are to live.

I thought about the general upon reading over my column of last week which dealt with the "monkey" and the wisdom of accepting responsibility which is not ours. But what about that which is our burden to carry?

A message had to be delivered to General Garcia...no matter what the cost. For if the communicate were not delivered, a major tactical error in the pending battle would occur, the lives of thousands of patriots would be lost, as would the future of the nation.

"Send me three of your most faithful soldiers," the leader of the country pronounced.

The first entered, and after being informed of the nature of this hazardous mission, as well as its importance, he was asked if he would, "deliver the message to Garcia?"

"Well, your eminence, I sure will do my best, and if nothing goes wrong, I think I can make it." With that the soldier was dismissed.

The second soldier was called. After a patient explanation of the difficulty and critical nature of the assignment, he was asked the important question. He replied, "I'm pretty sure I can do it, sir, but no matter what I'll give it my best effort." With that, he, too, was asked to retire.

Finally the last man was summoned. After the same detailed briefing as the others, the third soldier was asked, "Will you deliver my message to General Garcia?"

"Yes sir, it will be done!"

"You my son, will carry my message to Garcia."

Days passed before anything was known, but finally word came. Half-dead, bloodied but unbowed and unbroken, the soldier had gotten through. Over hazardous terrain and between enemy lines, he had done what he believed he could do, what he "knew" he would do...and all they had believed in and stood for...had been saved.

Appropriate, I think, just after this Memorial Day remembrance, that we consider all the loyal, brave, fighting men and women who, as President Lincoln once said, "...gave their last full measure of devotion...that our nation might not perish from the earth."

Mercifully, most of us are seldom faced with adversity of the magnitude that could determine the immediate and certain fate of our entire nation.

Each day, we do, however, bear witness to the performance of those who have responsibility to that which they profess loyalty. They face a choice between stepping forward and accepting the responsibility as well as the authority to "get it done," or to let it go.

They take the title, the money, and the uniform, if you will, but don't do the job. They, in effect, call themselves a healer, send you the bill, and think they have fulfilled their duty by dealing with the symptom while failing to ferret out the disease. We all observe it: in business, in the schools, churches, service clubs, and at home.

The worst place imaginable of all, however, to find the shurker, lacker, the person who cannot, or will not, do that to which action was committed...is looking back at us, in the mirror.

To not be willing to carry the monkey for a friend, relative, fellow worker, employee, or your employer, when it is clearly theirs, and not yours, is one matter.

But to default on our responsibility to the company we draw a paycheck from, the cause we say we believe in, the country or cause to which we claim allegiance is a matter which we will either learn to carry on our shoulders, or carry as a burden on our soul.

It is, of course, easy for all of us to subjectively figure out where the "other guy" failed. When, however, we have multiple roles we are sworn to uphold; in the family, business, and community, we all encounter (Continued on the next page)

Resident supports tax hike

To The Editor:

Quality communities mean quality schools. The two go hand in hand.

Three of my children have received excellent educations through the Wayne-Westland schools and have gone on to be productive citizens of this community. My two younger children are currently receiving the same quality education.

Quality costs money-you get what you pay for, be it cars, toasters or schools. Our schools have not had an increase in funding for seven years.

I am more than aware of the increased costs of managing a home and providing the household necessities for my family during the same period.

I am more than willing to pay $40 a year, for a quality education for the future leaders of our community. Let's keep, "It's Great to Live in Wayne" rather than, "It used to be Great to Live in Wayne."

100 years ago today . . .

Jurors would be more representative of the general population under a bill approved by the Legislature.

Prospective jurors are presently selected by jury boards from voter registration lists. Under the bill, they would be drawn from driver's license lists.

Ideally, a jury selection list should provide a fair, representative sample of the population. Yet, it has been argued that the voter registration list falls short of this ideal, and instead over-represents certain segments of the population. Left out are many minorities, as well as people in the 18-to 24-year-old age group, who are less likely to be registered to vote.

It is established that voter registration lists cover only 83 percent to 85 percent of the state adult population. The Michigan Department of State figures that the driver license list, combined with the personal identification cardholder list, which would also be used for jury selection, represents 95 percent of the state eligible adult population.

(The person ID cards can be obtained from the Department of State by people who do not have driver's licenses but want some form of official identification.)

The need for a better cross-section of jurors has been recognized by the federal courts. For instance, the federal district court at Detroit changed its method of jury selection in 1982 by using the list of licensed drivers in addition to the voter registration list. Federal law requires the use of registered voter lists as the main source of juror names, but also allows the additional use of names from other sources.

The driver's license list provided more accurate address information than voter registration lists, which are often outdated.

The National Council of Metropolitan Courts in 1973 recommended that the voter registration lists be supplemented by other lists in jury selection.

At least 15 states use both voter's lists and driver's licenses lists in jury selection.

The driver's license list provided more accurate address information than voter registration lists, which are often outdated. Also, those who try to avoid jury duty would find it harder to do so if driver's license lists are used in selecting jurors.

Under the bill, the Department of State would annually send to the clerk of each county, at no expense to the county, a list of licensed drivers and personal ID cardholders who live in that county. The list would be forwarded to the jury board.

Twenty five little girls all dressed in white protected his path to the carriage with the stars and stripes, while the Governor acknowledged the honor with uncovered head. Nearly 2000 people were in town to hear the great man speak, but half of them were deprived the pleasure for want of accommodation. in the Wayne Westland district since 1979, and yet the schools are still providing teachers, administrators, busses, gasoline, lights, electricity, books, clerical personnel, and janitorial services to care for our young while they are educated. Our utility bills have shown marked increases during the past seven years, and we cannot imagine that the school district's have remained the same. We also cannot imagine a building, unless newly constructed, that would not require some maintenance during seven years of housing a multitude of very young, not-so-young and teenaged students.

The proposals for the money are certainly not earth shattering. The district spokesmen suggest that they will be able to continue the present programs, including art, music and physical education, replace some equipment which is worn and in some cases inoperable and provide building maintenance which has been determined necessary.

It appears to be a straightforward request with no fancy footwork and no rhetorical promises of vast improvements. The administrators and board members seem to have dealt with this in an honest and realistic manner and for that, we applaud them. There have been no threats of massive cuts or scare tactics designed to load guilt on voters who don't fully understand the issue.

The issue seems, to us, simple enough. The average homeowner in the Wayne-Westland district living in a $40,000 home pays about $943 a year toward support of the schools. An increase in the millage will add about $40 a year to that total. In these times of inflation and escalated prices, these seems a bargain to us.

This would seem to be a bargain at twice the price when the end result could affect each of our futures so personally and dramatically.

We would urge citizens who understand the impact of this small, 2-mill increase to vote and to vote yes on the increase rather than allowing those who care less to control the education of our children, and our futures.

Summer at last

Finally, area residents can haul away the shovels and snowblowers for another year and bring out the frisbees, shorts and suntan oils.

With Memorial Day traditionally signalling the beginning of the summer season, area residents decked out in their summer outer wares last weekend and visited area parks and swimming holes in numbers to celebrate the beginning of the long-awaited season.

Both Edward Hines Park in Westland and the Lower Huron Metropark in Belleville reported record crowds for the year Monday with Memorial Day temperatures perking above the 70-degree mark.

The summer fun is expected to continue, Mother Nature willing, at the local recreation spots with extended hours through Labor Day or until the rays of the sun again fail to shine on the sun-loving residents of western Wayne County.

Summer fun available right around the corner

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Although the framers of the modern calendar won't admit it, the annual rites of summer are upon us as the Memorial Day parades, backyard barbecue and weekend sunburns have gone by.

And even though the magnates of appliance store television commercial fame would have us believe that we will flock in numbers to their stores this summer in search of lawn furniture, 2 million B.T.U. air conditioners and whatever other gadget attracts our attention, Teresa Malone, a dispatcher for the Lower Huron Metropark in Belleville, said that area residents still head for the water when the thermometer bubbles over.

The Lower Huron Metropark is the closest of the five Detroit area parks, located at 17845 Savage Road, Belleville, just off the I-94 Haggerty Road exit on Hannan Road. Malone said that visitors begin to hit the park in full force on Memorial Day and don't let up until after the Labor Day holiday in September.

She added that weekends are the busiest day for the park with Saturday taking the lead in attendance figures.

Malone said that all Metroparks are open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday through Saturday. Services available include fishing, swimming, boating, golfing, tennis, barbecuing, camping, nature sight-seeing and hiking. Park goers may opt for a $2-per-car day pass which entitles them to a day of recreation at all five Metroparks for one day, or a $7-per-car yearly pass which is good for both the summer and winter seasons. Senior citizens receive a $2 discount on the yearly pass.

If the Metroparks aren't in your favor this summer, water is not an element of short supply in these parts, or so report the officials in Belleville. R. Lynne Hamilton, Van Buren Township Supervisor, said that Belleville Lake is open and ready for water lovers this year.

Despite a controversial closing last year by the Michigan Department of Health, the lake is open each day from 10 a.m. to dusk for boating, skiing, fishing and swimming at the swimmer's own risk. Boat rentals are available at local marinas as well as fishing gear and supplies.

Although swimming is not prohibited by law on the lake in general, state officials warn would-be water enthusiasts to forego any physical contact with the water after a rain due to possible water contamination.

And if the water sports don't quench your thirst for summer fun, several local cities and groups will be celebrating with summer festivals. Among these are:

■ Belleville Strawberry Festival - June 20, 21 and 22 in downtown Belleville. For information, call 697-9151.

■ Canton Country Festival - June 20, 21 and 22 behind Canton Township Hall, Canton Center Road. For information, call 397-1000.

■ Westland Summer Festival - July 2 through 6 in Central City Park, Ford Road near city hall. For information, call 728-4922.

■ Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Ballon Festival in Canton - July 11, 12 and 13 at the Centennial Educational Park, Joy and Canton Center roads. For information, call 453-1620.

■ Wayne County Fair - July 14 through 19 at the county fairgrounds, Belleville Road off of I-94. For information, call 697-7002.

■ Wayne Old-Fashioned Homecoming Festival - Sept. 6, 7 and 9 in downtown Wayne. For information, call Joey Gresehover at 722-2000.

Horseshoes bring good luck

Local woman riding high as blacksmith

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Until last year, Sharon Knowles had never shod a horse. Today, she's making the duty her career.

Knowles, the owner of Sharon's Horseshoeing Service in Belleville, has been a 1980s blacksmith since she came to the area in 1985 and is reportedly loving every minute of it.

"I love it. I graduated from school last October. After that, business really started to boom for me," said Knowles.

While working a part-time job as a custodian at the Michigan Humane Society in Westland, the 32-year-old Belleville resident decided to turn her dream of working with horses into reality by attending a school specializing in horse shoeing.

After what she called a "grueling" eight-week course that dealt with every aspect of the horse from the knee down, Knowles received her diploma and set off to work as a modern American blacksmith.

Knowles attended the Michigan School of Horseshoeing located in Belleville. There students were trained in corrective shoeing, the anatomy of the horse's hoof, how the tendons work and the basic tasks of shoeing a horse the correct way.

But even a rigid class in horseshoeing can't make up for inexperience, Knowles said, having only observed the blacksmith in the past and never before taking the anvil for her own.

The Wisconsin native reported that she has loved horses since childhood and has always been an avid rider and groomer. It was this love that convinced her to pursue a career in the horse trade even further.

"I've had a love of horses ever since I was a little girl and laid my eyes on a little pony," Knowles said. "I've always wanted a career with horses and this is the career that I chose."

Postmen bring mailbox improvement message

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

The postman always rings twice, but not if a shabby mailbox, family dog or dangerous porch stops him first.

In observation of National Mailbox Improvement Week recently, Charles Venator, officer in charge of the Wayne-Westland-Canton post office, said area postal patrons should take a few extra moments to evaluate the condition of their mailboxes and the paths leading up to them to ensure a more efficient and speedy delivery of the mail.

"There are a lot of problems with mailboxes out there. Many don't have numbers on them. At a lot of houses, the boxes have literally fallen off the house," Venator said. "We try to get people to improve these situations during this week."

After a long, hard, Michigan winter, Venator said that spring and early summer provide a good opportunity to promote mailbox improvement. Aside from the improved appearance of neat-looking mailboxes in a neighborhood or down a rural road, Venator said that many mailboxes today are unsafe to mail carriers and to customers who retrieve the mail from them.

With about 30 percent of all postal customers in the area receiving mail in a curbside box, Venator explained that a major concentration is being placed on free-standing, rural-route mailboxes in the improvement program. One recurring problem with the boxes, he said, is cars being parked in front of them, the boxes being knocked down and other non-mail materials being placed inside.

Although there is no law to prohibit an automobile in front of a roadside mailbox, Venator said that if the problem continues for a long period of time, the customer will be notified and mail delivery could be stopped. In addition, mail service could be impeded because of a dangerous, too-short, or broken-down box as well.

The post master general recommends boxes that are 3 1/2 to 4 feet in height. A clearly printed address on the receptacle also aids delivery.

Serving more than 200,000 postal customers, Venator reported that the job can be substantially detoured because of things as simple as bad mailboxes, a blocked path to the box or other obstacles.

Among these other obstacles, he said, is the family dog — the number one villain to the postman, according to Venator. To alleviate some of the problems associated with the family pets, postal officials have been placing tags on residential mailboxes to inform visiting carriers or substitutes that a dog is present in the house. But the stickers alone can't solve the problem, Venator said, as a great deal of assistance must come from dog owners.

In addition to Rover, the postman may be kept from delivering the mail for a variety of other reasons, according to Venator. Some of these reasons include snow-covered sidewalks, dangerous porches and failure by residents to notify the post office when moving or going on vacation.

There are a lot of problems with mailboxes out there. Many don't have numbers on them. At a lot of houses, the boxes have literally fallen off the house. We try to get people to improve these situations during this week.

Venator said that when moving, customers should file a change of address form with the post office within one week of leaving. When going on vacation, a written notice to the carrier or post office within two days before leaving will ensure that the home doesn't have the "vacant look" with full mailboxes and packages laying around.

A major switch to "community mailboxes" is hitting the local parade, Venator said, as postal patrons realize the increased security with such a box. The community mailbox is generally located at a central location on a city street or subdivision and is made up of many boxes grouped together. The post office supplies the boxes which all lock and are weatherproof. Aside from speeding mail delivery and eliminating some of the obstacles such as cars being parked in front of mailboxes, Venator said that the boxes are becoming popular because of the increased security to the mail and the bigger size of the box.

Nevertheless, Venator doesn't expect a complete transition of the mailboxes in the area to the community-type. But he does think that a few moments of time spent this spring and summer improving postal receptacles and the pathways leading up to them will aid summertime carriers and mailman throughout the year get the mail to the homes in a more efficient manner.

"This is an annual program but it should be an ongoing thing. This is a time of year when people are sprucing up their yards and we hope they do their mailboxes as well," said Venator. "We're here to provide the service, but we need the cooperation of our customers to maintain service at its highest level."

Horses

(Conintued from B-1)

Although no other member of the Knowles family ever sported the blacksmith's apron and held an anvil like a master, Knowles is no amateur when it comes to horses. She reported that her father was also a staunch horse enthusiast and that her uncle raised and bred stallions of his own in Wisconsin.

But the farm lands of the Wisconsin plains do not resemble the smokestacks of metro Detroit or the roar of semi-trailers and automobiles that race along the freeways and throughout the streets of Belleville. Still, Knowles explained, the need for a blacksmith in the area is great.

In the trade for a little more than one and one-half years, Knowles works every spare moment shoeing horses. She reported that her job at the Humane Society occupies most of her day but evenings and weekends are dedicated to the horses.

Unlike the doctor in the 1980s, Knowles makes house calls. In fact, nearly all of her business is performed right out of the trunk of her small car.

"I always work right out of the back of my car," Knowles said. "When I go to places, I have my anvil and all the shoes right in the back."

Knowles said the horses in the Belleville and surrounding areas are used primarily as pets or show animals. Most of her business, she continued, comes from the residential community, horse groomers and breeders.

And although working two jobs occupies a great portion of her "spare" time, Knowles said that her love of horses is not just all work and no play. The Belleville resident owns four horses of her own on her farm which she uses in competition and for leisure riding. She currently is preparing to enter a barrel race event this summer.

How does one shoe a horse? According to Knowles, it's a little more than just hammering a steel plate onto a hoof.

The first step to ensure the proper fitting of a shoe, Knowles said, is to study the horse in detail. This analysis includes watching the horse's walk, trot, probing the hoof for irregularities and measuring the area of the hoof. Although the analysis step in shoeing is perhaps the most uninteresting, Knowles said it probably is the most important and can be compared to the proper fitting of shoes on humans.

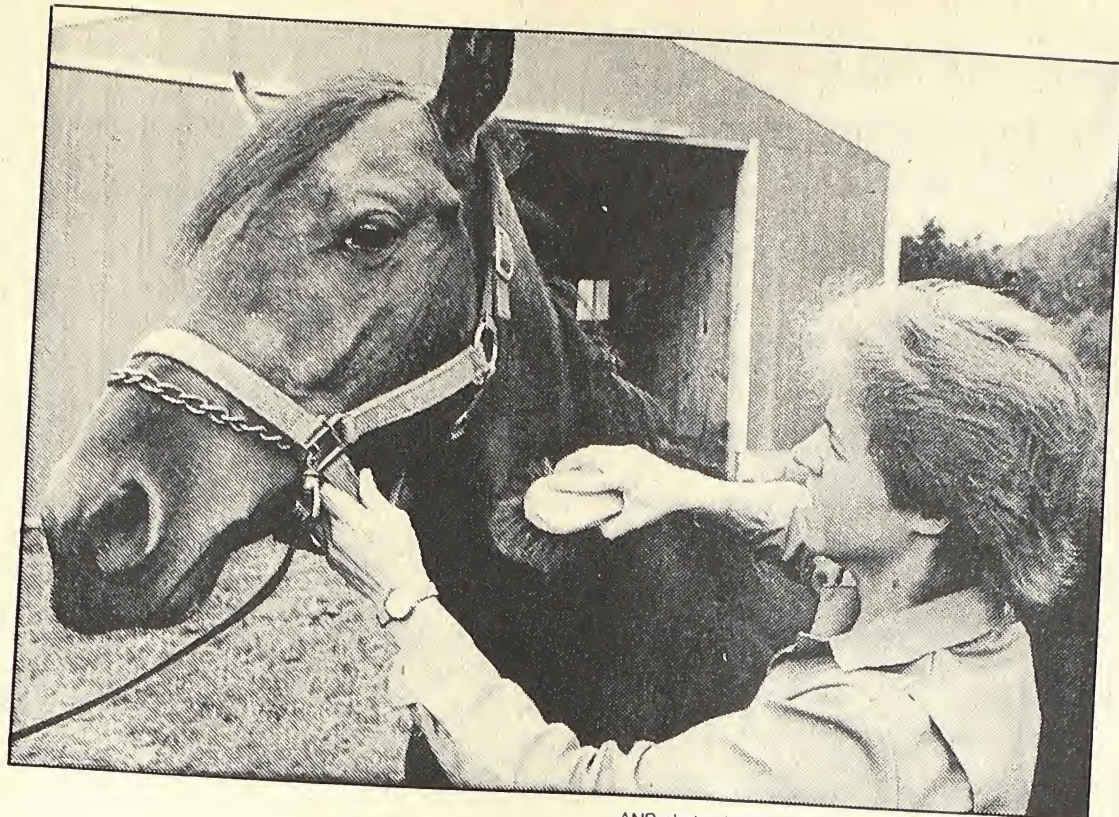

The next step is logical - putting the shoe on the horse. After making sure the hoof is level, Knowles said the shoe is hammered onto the hoof using a steel shoe and horseshoe nails. In all, the process should take about 45 minutes, she added, and would cost the average horse owner about $35 for all four shoes.

With the overload in work, Knowles explained that she currently is looking for an assistant and is looking in the direction of her 13-year-old daughter who also has acquired a strong affection for the stallions. Thus, alongside of mother when making the various rounds of horseshoeing details for the day can be found the younger Miss Knowles with just as keen an interest. But the love of horse hasn't completely spread down the family lineage, Knowles said, as her 10-year-old daughter is "scared to death of them."

With or without assistance in the near future, Knowles said she hopes to expand her business and possibly one day make it her only profession. The capital output is small, she said, - a car, anvil, shoes and knowledge - and the profits can be rewarding for the right person.

But even as a love for the four-legged creatures out of the western plains captures her love and affection, Knowles reported that she enjoys being a blacksmith for the job security it provides, unlike her last position in an automobile factory which left her out of work due to company layoffs.

"Machines may have replaced a lot of things," Knowles quipped, "but machines will never, ever replace a blacksmith."

Wayne stuns regional champ for league title

'Inspirational' track effort by Tolson lifts Zebras

Receiving an "inspirational performance" from senior Ron Tolson, and some unexpected but welcomed surprises from Karl Blaszkowski and Wayne Roberts, Wayne Memorial edged Class A regional champ, Monroe, by 8.5 points to capture the Wolverine 'A' Conference Track & Field Championships.

Coach Joe Grasley's runners piled up 164.5 points, edging the newly-crowned regional champs, Monroe, at the league meet. The Trojans had 156 points. Belleville finished third (88), followed by Trenton (39.5), Lincoln Park (33), Fordson (30), and Wyandotte (19). Fordson was the host school for the 1986 running of the conference championship.

"We had some gutty performances by our kids," said Grasley who brought the curtains down on his first and undefeated (10-0) season as Wayne's head coach. "But there were some exceptional and superb efforts by our athletes."

Grasley said that Tolson stood out as an inspiration for his teammates, pointing out that the senior collapsed after running the 2-mile relay, "but came back and to run in the 1,600 meters, and provided points in both the 800-meters and finished third in the 3,200."

"It was an amazing comeback. He passed out because of the lack of oxygen and we figured he wouldn't be able to continue with the meet. But he did," Grasley continued. "Most of the coaches and fans in the stands couldn't believe what they saw. Tolson is a class athlete, that's all there is to it."

Wayne captured four league titles with George Lumpkin ending his prep career with the gold medal in the shot put with a toss of 45 feet, 3 inches. The rugged Wayne athlete was undefeated in dual meet competition this year.

Roberts, also a senior, nosed out teammate Alvin Allen for the gold in the 400-meter dash.

'It was an amazing comeback (by Tolson) . . . He ran out of oxygen, but he came back and performed like the class athlete he is. The coaches and fans applauded his effort.'

—Coach Joe Grasley

Bryan Nolen and Roberts who finishing the event in 50.5 while Allen was clocked in 50.7. Allen cashed in his 22.5 effort for the 200-meters for a gold.

Grasley had the top 800-meter relay team in the conference this year thanks to Karl Blaszkowski, Eddie Jordan, posted the winning time of 1:32.9.

Wayne also finished second best in six events. The combination of Nolen, Tolson, Darnell Hill and Brett Thirjung trailed their counterparts from Monroe across the finish line standing hurdler, Dwayne Barrow who won the 110-meter high hurdles in 15.6. Jordan's second place time was 15.7.

Thirjung was second best in the 800-meter, losing the gold to Monroe's Tim Pitcher who was clocked in 1:57.1. Thirjung finished in 1:58.7.

In the 1,600 meter relay, Belleville put the winning team on the track (3:27.5) with Thirjung, Darren Tatum, Nolen and Roberts coming in second with a 3:28.7.

The champs also had seven third places with pole vaulter Ken Slotkowski (11 feet, 4 inches); shot putter Mike Cooney (44 feet, 3 1/2 inches); long jumper Mark Rorem (20 feet, 3); Sean Skiver, in the 110-hurdles (16.9); Blaszkowski, in the 100-meter dash (11.4); Eddie Jordan, in the 300-meters, and Tolson, in the 3,200 meters (9:52.5).

For last time, Cherry Hill is league champ

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

What no Tri-River Conference track and field team has been able to do in the past 15 years, voters have: End the Cherry Hill domination of the league.

Coming off of a victory last week at the Class B regional finals at Chelsea, Coach Dick Gordon and the Spartans retained their conference title for an unprecedented 15 consecutive season. Over the period of the last 15 years the Spartans have piled up a phenomenal 55-1 won-lost conference record.

Because the voters in the school district decided last year to abolish the district and merge with the Wayne-Westland schools, Cherry Hill will no longer be in existence after the current school year. The students and athletes will be attending either Wayne or Westland schools.

"It was an excellent way to say good-bye," said Gordon who has served as head coach for the last eight years, inheriting the team that had previously won seven league titles under the guidance of Joe Grasley. (Grasley was appointed head coach at Wayne Memorial at the beginning of the school year.)

"It is an honor... a tribute to the kids and to the sponsors of our teams over the year that we managed to accomplish what we did this year. I am proud of this team. And I know that each and every member of the community is proud of this team."

Cherry Hill entered the league championships at Southgate Schafer with an untarnished 7-0 dual meet record and Dearborn Heights Crestwood smarting for a rematch. The rematch didn't materialize as the Spartans compiled 149 points and outdistanced

The last of the Spartans

With a phenomenal 15 consecutive Tri-River Conference championships and a 55-1 over-all conference record behind them, Cherry Hill's track & field members said "good-bye" to the league last week. The school district has voted to merge with the Wayne-Westland schools, ending Cherry Hill's approximately 30 years of existence. Coach Dick Gordon and his last Spartans have one more goal they would like to accomplish before writing the final paragraph to an exciting drama: they would like to finish among the top five teams in the state this week at the Class B finals in order to win "All-State" recognition. Only one other Cherry Hill track team managed to pull off that feat, its 1983 club.

16 bowlers are 'perfect'

Bowlers with outstanding achievements during the 1985-86 season were honored recently at the 20th annual awards dinner dance of the Wayne-Westland Men's Bowling Association (WWMBA).

There were a total of 16 bowlers who scored perfect 300 scores during the season.

Eight 300 games were rolled at Super Bowl in Canton. These high rollers were Gary Asher, Lynn Carter, John Chattaway, Kevin Engler, Steve Londeau, Mark Scheffer, Gary Sinveck and Leonard Wegrzyn.

Wayne Bowl's 300 bowlers included Gene Combs, Joe Emery Sr., Mack Ivory and Leon Smith Jr.

Fiesta Lanes and Jack Johnson and Steve Schwartz also turned in perfect scores and at Town N Country Lanes, Gary Brudna and Jim Daniels sweated their way to the coveted 300's.

Almost perfect, with 299's, were carded by Bob Hannenberg, Dan Harrison, John Moore, Dave Profitt, Alvin Thornsberry and James Warner. Randy Birdwell and Randy Gazdag rolled 298 games this season.

A high game is an accomplishment in itself, but bowling a high series of three exceptional games is certainly to be commended, also. High series in the WWMBA this year was an 812 rolled by Londeau at Super Bowl. He had games of 300, 268 and 244. Thomas Brudzinski's 805 and George Finerman's 804 were also recorded at Super Bowl.

Other high series awards were also recorded at Super Bowl.

Other high series awards went to Dave Thomas, 786 at Westland Bowl, Arnie O'Brien, 783 at Town N Country, Charles West rolled a 780 series at Wayne Bowl and Robert Harris's 778 was recorded at Fiesta.

Leon Smith Jr. carried the highest average in the WWMBA, averaging 221 at Wayne Bowl.

The WWMBA 39th City Tournament champions received their awards also. The team event champs were the Colonial Lanes team consisting of Lester Griffin, Alfred Price, Anthony Price, Robert White and Tony Woods. Singles champion was Allen Campbell.

Doubles winners were Bill Mesiter and Bob Pniewski. All events champ honors also went to Meister and Special Event winner was Hannenberg with his 299.

Mixed doubles tourney honors went to Mike Simonds and Mary Batterson. Larry Kilgore's actual high game of 278 took honors and Terry McDermid won high game with handicap with his 310 score.

Winners of the Third Annual Youth Scholarship Tournament are: Kellie Flanagan, $1,000 scholarship won for her 754 score in the Girls Division; Charlene Jaskolski's 685 won for her a $500 scholarship.

In the boys' division, Robbie Cook's 686 score netted him a $1,000 scholarship, while David Turner won the $500 scholarship with his 668 score.

Canton plans Tiger outing

If you're a Detroit Tigers' baseball fan and live in Canton Township, the recreation department is planning a trip to the stadium on Saturday, June 28.

The recreation department is sponsoring the special trip for kids and their parents to Tiger Stadium to see the Tigers take on the Milwaukee in an afternoon game. The transportation will be provided by the township.

There is a $9.50 fee for trip. Contact the parks and recreation department at 397-1000 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. for further information. The recreation department is located at 1150 South Canton Center Road.

Undisputed champs

With a half-point to spare, Cherry Hill retained the Tri-River Conference Track & Field championship for the sixth consecutive year. It will be the Spartans' last title because the school district is scheduled to merge with the Wayne-Westland schools. The Spartan final line-up included: Carin Mulrooney (front row, from left), Michele Stevens, Yolanda Brown, Francetta Saxton, Tracie Palmer, Chantelle Gagnier, Kim Greene and Selette Walker; second row are Melissa Smiley, Jackie Wells, Shannon White, Bianca Smiley, Angela Clendenning, Tonia Rouser, Sheri Bishop, and Nicole Thurman; third row are Deanne Moore, Thersea Johnson, Lisa Lawrence, Darcus Braswell, Linda Turza, Terrie Crockett, Angela Jordan, Sue Leskun and Lashana Thurman.

Belleville buries Lincoln Park

Erupting for 11 runs in the third inning, Belleville scored a lopsided 14-4 victory over Lincoln Park last week to lift its Wolverine 'A' Conference record to 4-7 on the season.

"It was our best offensive game of the season," said John Bertz who is finishing his first year as Belleville's head coach. "We looked good."

Belleville brings down the curtain for the 1986 campaign today when they travel to Fordson. They were ousted from the Class A district playoffs last week when they dropped a 7-4 decision to South Lyon.

Bertz sent Charles Dilts to the mound against the Railplitters who notched six strikeouts and walked three en route to his fourth personal victory in five starts.

The loss went to Charles Detsen, the first of four pitchers Belleville's battery got a look at. Detsen lasted three innings and was yanked midway in the third when the Tigers put 11 runs on the board.

Pat Ringwelski blasted a two-run triple - one of his two hits for the game - in that big Tiger inning. Teammate Brian Lovelace checked in with a two-run double and Steve Ostrowski came through with a bases-loaded triple.

In the meantime, Belleville's thinc-lads ended the Wolverine 'A' Conference season by finishing third behind Wayne Memorial and Monroe at the conference championships staged at Dearborn.

But the Tigers got some outstanding performances at the championships.

Senior Matt Larcense, among those to watch at the Class A state finals this weekend at Jackson, captured the league discus crown with a toss of 159 feet, 5 inches. Teammate Durane Barrow also came away with a gold medal for his performance in the 110-meter high hurdles. He was clocked in 15.6.

Figures don't lie

Cherry Hill wins with half-point to spare

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Dearborn Heights Crestwood figured it had finally defeated its nemesis, Cherry Hill, and had their first Tri-River Conference track & field championship.

The Dearborn Heights thinc-lads figured wrong.

And so did the officials who conducted the league championships for the girls' division last week.

Crestwood thought it had a half-point margin of victory over the defending champs, but a recount of the scoresheet after the first place trophy had been awarded to the Chargers showed that Cherry Hill had the half-point edge and Coach Jess Shough and his Spartans "repossessed" the first place trophy, bringing the coveted award home for the sixth and last time. Cherry Hill will be closed in June.

"When we went back and figured the final score it showed that we weren't credited with a sixth place and that we did, indeed, have a half-point edge over them (Crestwood) instead of the other way around," said Shough. "We were estatic."

Cherry Hill and Crestwood had tied in their dual meet and the team championship rode on the outcome of the league meet. They had identical 6-0-1 won-lost-tied records.

"Obviously when you win by a half-point," Shough noted, "you have to feel very fortunate. And, we were fortunate in that Melissa Smiley, despite a pulled muscle in her leg, managed to finish sixth and gave us a point where we didn't expect to score. And some Crestwood misfortunes helped us." Crestwood's top two-miler didn't compete because of a mix-up.

Cherry Hill finished with a total of 118.5 points while Crestwood had 118.

Berg wins Class B regional net crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Cherry Hill tennis players put their racquets aside for the last time last week.

But, before they did, coach Mike Hairabedian's Spartans won their second straight Tri-River Conference championship, their fourth title in nine years. Included in that span of Cherry Hill qualified two teams for the state Class B finals.

"We went out in class," said Hairabedian who has been the Spartan coach for the past 22 years. "It has been one heck of an experience; one beautiful memory after another."

In the recent Class B regional tournament staged at Dearborn, the Spartans finished in third place in a field of 13 and placed its one, two and three singles players into the finals.

The No.1 singles titles at the regionals was awarded to Cherry Hill's Eric Berg who, after two years as runner-up, moved up to the championship rung with a 2-6, 6-3, 6-0 victory over Grosse Ile's Jamie McIntosh.

Berg qualified to compete in the state finals. This is the third straight year he has reached the finals and he's only a junior.

Cherry Hill says 'adieu'

Southgate, their nearest rival, Southgate, by 38 points.
Cherry Hill senior Michael Brown stood out. He delivered both dashes into the Spartan win column as he turned in a 10.0 seconds flat for the 100-yards and then came back in the 220 to claim his second gold with a 22.7. He also anchored the winning 440-and-880 relay teams.
In the 440, Brown teamed with freshman Tony Adams, Kevin Wilson and Gordon Jones who covered the distance in 45.1 flat. Then, in the '880-relay the same foursome was clocked in the winning time of 1:33.4.

Cherry Hill also had the individual champ in the quarter-mile as Bubba Zirker captured his gold medal with a 53.1 performance. He also was featured in the 2-mile relay where he anchored the Spartan team of Cordell Crosby, Scott Leskovitz and Wayne Stephens who posted a record-establishing time of 8:29.1.

Cherry Hill has set its sight on another goal before the final curtains come down on the team and the school. They would like to finish in the top five in the state and become "an all-state team".
"If we do we would be duplicating a feat that our 1983 club did," Gordon said. Gordon sees teams like perennial track powerhouses Flint Beecher, Detroit Benedictine, Ypsilanti Lincoln, River Rouge and Dearborn, which was dropped into the Class B ranks this year because of the lack of enrollment, as those teams who could stop the Spartans from realizing their dreams.
The state Class B championships will be conducted May 31 in Flint.
Before leaving the conference championships, there were some other notable performances, especially from Scotty Johnson, the premier Class B shot putter in the state. Johnson's toss of 50 feet, 4 inches sealed for him a gold medal in his specialty. He also came away with a second place in the discus with a 128 feet, 5 inches effort.

Other Spartan athletes who just missed winning conference titles included Zirker who finished second in the mile with a 4:39.5, losing to Southgate's Craig Havican who was clocked in 4:33.3; Wayne Stephens, in the 880-yards (2:07.0) who also lost to Havican (2:06.0); and sophomore Julio Desire, a runner-up in the 120-high hurdles (15.9).
The Spartans finished third in the shot put with Dominic White and third in the low hurdles with Desire. Fourth place awards went to Scott Baringer, pole vault; Jones, 100-yard dash; Baringer, 440; while sixth place ribbons were awarded to Anson Stroman, in the high jump; Adams in the long jump and Andrew Hall, in the shot put.

The final chapter in Cherry Hill's track drama has come to a successful conclusion with the Spartans winning the Tri-River Conference championship for the eighth successful season. But, outstanding athletes like sophomore hurdler Nicole Thurman will be heard from next year when she appears in either a Wayne or Glenn uniform. She picked up two fifth place conference ribbons for her performances in the high and low hurdles.

bined with Michele Stevens, Terri Crockett and Francette Saxton to win the 880-yard relay in 1:54.1.
Cherry Hill also fielded the second best 440-yard and mile relay teams. The Spartans went with Michele Stevens, Tonia Rouser, Brown and Saxton in the 440 and they were clocked in 54.4. Allen Park runners won the event. Crestwood's foursome beat Cherry Hill's mile relay line-up of Celeste Walker, Crockett, Darcus Braswell and Saxton. The second place time was recorded as 4:32.6.
The Spartans also received silver medal performances from Sue Leskun, in the discus (90 feet, 8); Rouser, in the long jump (14 feet, 6); Saxton, in the 440 (64.7) and Sherri Bishop, in the half-mile (2:42). Bishop took to the course despite a fractured toe.
Spartans who turned in third places included Turza, in the mile (6:01.1); Shannon White, in the shot put (28.3); and the 2-mile relay team of Bishop, Anne Moore, Carin Mulrooney and Linda Turza (11:20.4).
The championship was the sixth consecutive for the Spartans who will also travel to the Class B state finals on May 31 at Jackson. Cherry Hill qualified its 400-yard relay team of Stevens, Rouser, Brown and Jordan.

the ranks of Westland John Glenn or Wayne Memorial next year, taking with them a past record of 231 victories and 104 losses in the 22 years Hairabedian teams have competed.
Joining Berg at the regionals last Saturday were John Knaus at the No.2 singles and Mike Rankin, the No.3 singles. All three were honored as all-conference selections.

"We have enjoyed our relationship with the Tri-River Conference, with the fine competition and good friendships we have developed over the years," Hairabedian added.
The final Cherry Hill tennis line-up included: Junior Eric Berg, with a 20-1 won-lost record; seniors John Knaus, who finished the season at No.2 with a 15-6 record; Mike Rankin, with a 16-5 record, followed by Lamar Sanders at No.4; John Grahl and Dennis Bagley at No.2 doubles; Rob Dreher and Ken Reid at No.1 doubles.

Rounding out the team are David Casing, Eric Rankin, Wally McConnell, and David Oke.
"I wish the best to these young men and expect to see them in action on the Glenn or Wayne tennis courts," Hairabedian said.

Wayne captures league championship

Roberts, considered the "most underrated athlete" on the Wayne club, was the key to providing the Zebras with crucial points in the 1,600 relay where he came from behind and helped the team to a second place finish and also in the 800-relay.
Monroe, the defending Wolverine 'A' Conference track & field champs in the girls' division, successfully managed to defend its crown, easily turning back its top challenger, Wayne Memorial, by 75 points last week at Fordson.
Monroe garnered 170 points compared to Wayne's 170, followed by Trenton (87.5), Fordson (68.5), Belleville (47), Wyandotte (25) and Lincoln Park (9).

Although "bridesmaids" as a team, the Zebras produced the league championships for three of the four relays. Coach Joe Grasley's 800-meter relay team of Monique Kozorosky, Cherise Redd, Raini Beliger, and Diane Buckhalter were clocked in a league-record shattering time of 1:49.5.
Wayne ruled the 400-meter relay with a line-up that included Redd, Belinger, Sabina Moore and Kozorosky who were clocked in 42.4.
Wayne also had the best 1,600-meter relay team in the conference thanks to the performances of Diane Buckhalter, Yolanda Jackson, Clyvinne Hayes and Belinger whose 4:18.1 also established a new school record for the event.
Buckhalter, who is heading for Eastern Michigan University at the conclusion of her prep career, was crowned the league champ in the 100-meter dash. She hit the tape in 12.1, setting a conference record in the event. She was runner-up to Monroe's Holly Carter for the 200-meters, finishing in 26.4. The winner had a 16.3.
Wayne also had the silver medalist for the 1,600-meter run in Kathy Jacobs who covered the distance in 5:36.5.
Kozorosky, called a "super soph" by the coaching staff, finished third in the long jump with a leap of 15 feet, 2 inches and a 13.1 for the 100-yard dash.
Wayne wound up the 1986 campaign with an 8-1 over-all record and the second place in the league indicates that the Wayne girls' track program has come a long way, according to Grasley.
"I don't think any of our conference rivals believed we could do what we did this year," Grasley said. "It's a tribute to this team that they finished second and that our program has come a very long way."

Local woman reflects on war-time

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

When area women were asked to model old garments that they owned, many women donned dresses from the '50s, hats from the '30s and fashions that great-grandmother used to wear. But, one local resident came dressed in a wool, navy blue skirt, tie and hat from the days of World War I, an outfit that revealed an aspect of American history unknown to most people.

Joan Meaker, a retired school teacher from the Wayne-Westland school district and Wayne resident, found the old Navy uniform in a cedar chest locked upstairs in her mother's attic shortly after her death. Although the uniform itself didn't pose any great interest in American history, the original wearer of it prompted Meaker and a friend to explore the role of women in the WWI war effort, a facet of history not as well recognized as the women who participated in later wars.

Sadie de Leon, Meaker's mother and a native of Key West, Fla., enlisted in the Naval Reserves at Key West on April 5, 1917. According to Meaker, the move was not anything atypical in the early 1900s but was just an act of patriotism and loyalty to her hometown.

"I guess (enlisting) was the thing to do. She was a young woman and it sounded exciting to her," said Meaker of her mother. "She had always lived near a Naval base and one day went and asked if there was anything she could do."

De Leon's offer was quick to be acted upon as the government put her to work as a stenographer, file clerk, typist and office clerk. Women did not go to combat, according to Meaker, but stayed on the homefront performing domestic functions with the title "Yeoettes."

Unlike the men in the armed forces, the women were required to make their own uniforms, Meaker said. The ladies were given enough yards of wool material to make a skirt. Blue middies and caps were provided by the government and with the personal addition of shoes, the Yeoette uniform was complete.

Growing up in a military family, Meaker has adopted a sort-of rigid respect and affection for the war dead and veterans and said she thinks celebrating Memorial Day on the last Monday of May is disrespectful and is demeaning the original May 30 holiday to honor the lost soldiers of the country.

"Memorial Day was actually set aside to honor the dead. It was Decoration Day, when you went to honor all the dead of

" I think it's important that young people learn to have respect for cemeteries and the dead. "

Although she never talked much about her experiences as a veteran of WWI, de Leon remained proud of her patriotic aid right up until her death. Meaker said that two bound volumes containing photos and newspaper clippings describing "Life in the U.S. Naval Reserve Force" were found lying on the living room floor of her mother's home after she died.

From what her mother did tell her, Meaker said that life in the Naval Reserves was a hard experience but also a "fun" one. She cited numerous photos of her mother and best friend Kitty Karr attending parties, mingling with the boys and trying their hands at the newest fad that women shouldn't touch - cigarettes.

The Key West Naval Base where de Leon was stationed was used principally as a station for bi-winged planes and blimps during the war. The Keys were not connected to mainland Florida, Meaker said, as they are today and thus all transportation to and from the island was by boat.

your family, not just those that served but all war veterans. I think it's important that young people learn to have respect for cemeteries and the dead."

The respect of which Meaker speaks can be perhaps traced back to the days of her childhood when her father would take her to the family cemetery in Milan. An annual tradition, Meaker has carried the legacy on by bringing her own children out to decorate the graves and pay respect to those that gave their lives so the nation might live.

"As a child, my father used to take me out to Milan. He would take us out there on Memorial Day and put flowers on his family's graves," Meaker said.

But the war life didn't just begin with her mother's involvement in World War I, Meaker said. The Wayne resident is an avid member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, a civic group in which members must be able to prove

Home accidents can be avoided

This is the first in a series of articles on health and the elderly. Additional information on ways to improve health in the later years and the availability of health care programs in the area are available from The Senior Alliance, Inc., 3850 Second St., Suite 160, Wayne, MI 48184. The agency can also provide the name and address of agencies on aging serving other communities.)

While medical advances have helped more Americans enjoy good health in their later years, people tend to be more vulnerable to injuries as they age, reports Arthur V. Schletty, Deputy Director of the Division of Injury, Epidemiology, and Disease Control at the Center for Disease Control. Schletty reports that Americans over 75 have relatively more injury-related deaths than any other age group, with people aged 65-74 following close behind.

Schletty says that many injuries are related to changes that often accompany the aging process. These include changes in eyesight that reduce depth and color perception, and increased susceptibility to glare, and alterations in walking patterns, such as taking shorter steps, also increase the risk of tripping, while slower reactions can result in a reduced ability to react rapidly to danger.

Despite physical changes that may accompany aging, the risk of accidents can be greatly reduced by simple changes in an older person's daily routine and home environment.

Since many falls occur on stairs, marking the top and bottom steps with bright colored tape or paint, illuminating stairs, using handrails on both sides of the stairs, and carrying small loads when using stairs can greatly reduce the risk of accidents.

Schletty also recommends wearing sturdy shoes at home and getting rid of throw rugs.

"Slippery surfaces in bathrooms can be made safer with nonskid strips in the bath and shower and the use of grab bars," he said.

The kitchen is another area of the house where special precautions should be taken. Schletty recommends using heat-resistant mits to pick up hot containers, avoiding loose-fitting clothing that can catch on pots or catch fire, and moving pot handles so that they do not protrude from the stove. A fire extinguisher should be stored close to the cooking area.

Every home should be equipped with smoke detectors, and home water heaters should be set at a temperature between 120 and 125 degrees F. to avoid burns.

large print prescriptions labels, and prescription vials without safety closures as part of their services.

According to Moore and Millstein, "Far better pharmaceutical service will be obtained if you use one pharmacy for all your needs, so shop wisely and then work closely with the pharmacy and pharmacist that you choose."

They also advise patients to tell their doctor and pharmacist of any other drugs they are taking, whether or not they drink or smoke, and ask about precautions they should take regarding foods, since any of these factors can affect drugs safety and reliability. They also recommend asking your doctor about any possible adverse reactions from a new drug and advise having someone nearby when taking a prescription for the first time in case of an allergic reaction.

On sharing medications, Moore and Millstein warned that, "Many medications look alike, their names sound alike, or they appear to be given for similar conditions. Never make the assumption that drugs are the same or can be used the same way."

Proper drug use prescribed

Older people use drugs more than any other age group, report Steven R. Moore and Lloyd G. Millstein. Moore, a pharmacist, and Millstein, former Director of the Division of Drug Advertising and Labeling with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, say that getting to know your pharmacist is one of the best ways to get the most for your medical dollar when it comes to taking drugs.

They recommend that selecting a pharmacist who is willing to advise on such matters as generic drug substitutions and choose a pharmacy that provides home delivery, individual medication records,

BROKER REFUNDS PART OF CLIENT'S MONEY!

Dear Letter Writer:

I feel as though I have been really treated poorly by my investment broker. Would you please write a letter to his company telling them what I think.

(Because of the nature of the problem, this was a three page letter. The following are the relevant parts.)

On May 16, 1984, I entered into a relationship with your company and deposited $25,000 to open my account. As of June, 1985, 13 months later, my portfolio was worth $16,800. (A loss of $8,188.00.)

Five years ago, I became a 50-year-old widow with a 12-year-old daughter. The proceeds from my husband's estate were $25,000. It is important to note that I am without any knowledge whatsoever regarding investment possibilities, tax/legal implications, etc.

During our first meeting, in an attempt to put me at ease and assure me of his competence, your agent drew the following analogy:

"You go to a doctor for your medical problems-

You go to a lawyer for your legal problems-

I am a Money Doctor and you come to me for your money problems-

Obvious, I immediately became uncomfortable with this man. He is a very fast talking, self-assured individual, who exhibits an air of being overworked and exceptionally busy with no time to "go into detail." He is pompous, flamboyant, arrogant and bombastic. He intimidated me on a consistent basis.

When I received my June 30, 1985, statements, reflecting an $8,000 loss, I panicked-a state of mind that had been building for some time. Against your agent's advice, I wrote checks and virtually emptied my account. My relationship with him had deteriorated to the point that I absolutely could not continue to do business with him.

I am writing to you as I would appreciate a review of my account and an assessment from management personnel in your company as to the manner in which my assets were purchased and sold.

Was my account handled in a prudent way by an expert who is aware of his client's financial situation and reason for seeking investment help? Is it appropriate to buy on margin for someone like myself?

I feel betrayed and abused and would appreciate an explanation as to your company's position in a matter such as this one.

Sincerely, GT

RESOLUTION:

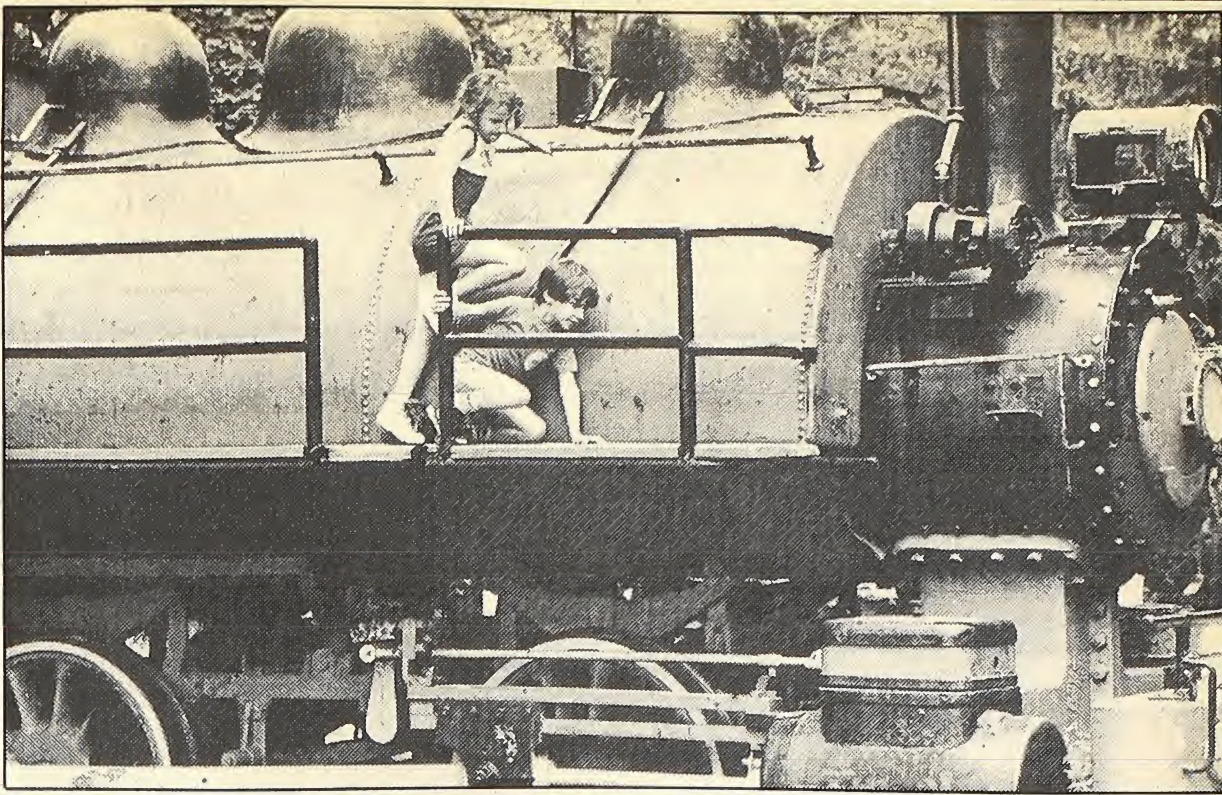

The company responded to GT via the telephone and a $5,000 settlement offer was presented. GT accepted the settlement amount and received a check from the company in February 1986.

COMMENT: This was an extraordinarily successful letter. GT's only other course of action would have, of course, been to file a lawsuit in circuit court. It goes without saying, that this method would have been extremely costly and the court docket would have delayed resolution of this matter for over three years. In addition, the burden of proof would have been on GT.

All aboard

Andrea and Michael D'Aoust of Belleville haven't mastered the art of train engineering just yet but they are checking things out for a closer look. The two were spotted last weekend crawling around the train near Belleville Lake where they spent a sunny Memorial Day afternoon. See related photos, page A-8.

Play Ball

Baseball is truly the national pasttime, and in Wayne and Westland, they start them very young. YMCA Pre-school t-ball coach Michelle Fox really enjoys teaching her young students the rudiments of the game, even though there is no pitcher and the ball is held stationary for the batter. At left, Greg Lenhoff, 3, practices his swing, and then gets some help, below left, from Fox. Below center is Katie Zelmanski, 4, who really enjoys the game. At right, danny Fick, 4, shows 'em how it's done and the entire, er, team, posed for Chief Photographer Lothar Koneitzko at lower right. Bless you, kids.

GIANT GARAGE SALE sponsored by the Westland Chamber of Commerce is scheduled between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. May 31 between Westland City Hall and the police station.

FISHING DERBY co-sponsored by the Westland Parks and Recreation Department and the Westland Kiwanis Club is slated on May 31 and June 1 at the Bailey Center, 36651 Ford Road. Youngsters can bring their poles or they will be supplied. Fees are 50 cents for children 14 and younger, one dollar for adults and 75 cents for senior citizens.

GREENFIELD VILLAGE AND HENRY FORD MUSEUM offer a look into the past daily between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. The museum offers new hands-on attractions and the village features demonstrations of old-time crafts.

MEADOW BROOK HALL is open for tours between 1 and 4 p.m. on Sundays at Oakland University, Rochester.

SEND INFORMATION on events happening in the area to Places to Go, Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184. Items must be received no later than Friday morning prior to the Wednesday publication date.

'Final Finale' staged

The end of the school term musical program at John Glenn High School could be dubbed "The Final Finale" since uncertain future plans for the annual event could make this presentation the last one scheduled.

The May 28 performance will feature songs and drama, while the Thursday event is a dancing performance. The Tuesday presentation featured band and orchestra music.

Dinner shows feature fun

Henry Ford Museum presents a variety of dinner theatre dramas on Friday and Saturday nights during its summer and fall season.

"Belvedere," the stage version of the 1948 movie, "Sitting Pretty," will be presented June 6 to 28 and July 11 to 19. A 1916 comedy, "Nothing But the Truth," will be staged from Aug. 8 through Sept. 13. Closing the fall season will be a 1926 comedy-mystery, "The Spider."

Tickets can be purchased for the theatre alone at $6 or dinner theatre tickets are available for $19.25 each. Advanced registration is required by phoning 271-1620 or mailing a check or money order to Reservations Center, Henry Ford Museum, P.O. Box 1970, Dearborn, Mich. 48121.

Each performance is at 7 p.m. There is a one dollar admission fee.

America is screaming for

It's still the same old flavor — and then some

By JOHN KIBILKO
ANP Staff Writer

When Burt Baskin and Irv Robbins collaborated on new methods of producing ice cream, they stumbled on the notion of one flavor for each day of the month — resulting in their traditional 31 flavors approach.

Now, more than 40 years after the birth of Baskin-Robbins Ice Cream, 550 flavors have been produced by the world's largest ice cream dipping store company, and there appears to be no end in sight.

Baskin-Robbins last week unveiled four new International Creams ice cream flavors, a response to what a company spokesman called "increasingly sophisticated palates" among ice cream connoisseurs. Move over Rocky Road Almond, here comes Cappuccino Chip.

The four new taste sensations, which cost about 25 percent more than standard ice creams, include Almond Amaretto, Grand Marnier, Chocolate Raspberry Truffle and Cappuccino Chip. While the jury is still out on whether or not the Continental cuisine will replace old standbys like chocolate chip, reaction to the new European flavors has been favorable.

"We've only been selling them for about a week," said Sam Saveski of Baskin-Robbins on Merriman in Westland. "But people seem to really like them. It's really a little early to say how they'll do."

How the new flavors do is extremely important to Baskin-

Robbins' top brass. The highly secretive process of developing new tastes which can be parlayed into big money makers is a time-consuming and costly venture. The company claims that a world-wide expedition to find satisfactory recipes was conducted, and that only three people are privy to the International Creams recipes. Every new flavor venture is a megabucks gamble.

I scream, you scream indeed.

Jadranka Mihjalovski of Baskin-Robbins in Farmington said that the new liqueur-flavored creams seem to be the early favorites.

"The Amaretto and the Grand Marnier are doing good," Mihjalovski said. "They all are doing good, but those seem to be doing better."

"Of course, we're still giving out free samples."

While the European craze is the result of large investments and hi-tech research, insiders say that traditionalists need not worry.

"They (the new International Creams) are a little more expensive," said Saveski. "But people still like the same things — vanilla and chocolate in malts and shakes, chocolate chip and mint chocolate chip ice cream."

Mihjalovski agreed.

"It depends on the area," she said. "Maria at the (Baskin-Robbins) McNichols store sells more butter pecan. But we sell a lot of chocolate chip and mint chocolate chip. I don't think that will change."

In other words, Grand Marnier or not, I'll have a triple dip chocolate chip.

old-time treats

Waffle cones and superman really sell

Matt Gietzen, owner of Kernals and Kream, on Wayne Road in Westland is a strong believer in the power of ice cream, and as the weather warms and school closes for the summer, he anticipates a banner year in the sale of, you guessed it, ice cream.

"I have Independent Dairy ice cream here, which is a small, family run firm from Monroe. They really have a great reputation and following," Gietzen said. "I think people like real ice cream like this that isn't available in supermarkets more than the big food franchise stuff like, say, McDonald's."

Gietzen explained that the newest, and most popular item these days is the danish or waffle cone made the old-time way on a waffle iron. "We really sell a lot of those," he noted, although the sale of old-fashioned sugar cones is still strong.

As for flavors, at Kernals and Kream the popular items haven't changed much. It's Cookies and Cream, Praline Pecan, Butter Pecan and the ever popular Superman. Superman? You bet. According to Gietzen, this concoction is made of banana, raspberry and blueberry flavors all swirled together in honor of the comicbook and movie hero's yellow, red and blue costume.

"Listen, I've got a whole line of customers here, I really can't talk about it," Gietzen explained as he concluded the interview. Obviously, everyone was screaming for . . . you guessed it, ice cream.

Chef spills ice cream secrets

How do you tell good ice cream from not-so-good ice cream? Well, if your taste buds don't tell you, take a look at the list of ingredients on the carton in the store advised celebrity chef Larry Janes, a regular guest on Kelly and Co. and Good Afternoon Detroit and the Associated Newspapers Food Editor.

"The difference is basically only two ingredients," Janes explained. "Cream and air."

The other difference in the cost of $10 a quart ice cream and the stuff that has no brand name but only costs about $1 is the flavorings. "If they are using real cream, and lots of it, extra egg, not much air and flavoring with, say, real vanilla beans, you can bet it's good ice cream and will cost you accordingly," Janes said.

Real fruit and nuts as opposed to artificial flavorings and the air content are the major flavor differences, while the amount of cream will influence the consistency of the delicious delicacy. But, watch the waistline when indulging. Janes noted that the calories in ice cream aren't "protein" or "good" calories, but strictly, well...fat.
